Klan Not Issue to Him

HIRAM W. JOHNSON

Johnson, who announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for president in Chicago last week, discussed his campaign plans and his platform in a sketchy way in his office here today.

Studying Mellon's Plan.

Inasmuch as the campaign for tax reduction proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is drawn on the theory that there will be no soldier bonus, Johnson's announcement that he is for the bonus would appear to line him up in opposition to the tax reduction plan.

Johnson said that did not necessarily follow.

"I must study the Mellon plan before giving my position on it," he said. "I believe in entire frankness, and when I return from Chicago in ten days, I expect to be in a position to discuss the Mellon plan and other questions now before the people."

Klan "Sectional Question."

Among these questions, Johnson included the investigation of the veterans bureau, the Temperance oil leasing case and reclamation. He intends to leave from getting mixed up in the Ku Klux Klan fight if he can.

"That is a sectional or state question," Johnson said.

Efforts to get Johnson to discuss foreign affairs proved futile. International questions, he said, must wait until later, though he promised to include them in the much more comprehensive discussion of his platform which he will make when he returns from a speaking engagement in Chicago.

Johnson is full of vim, ready for a "real fight," he said.

WHEN I WAS 20

By FRANK POTTS, Chamber of Commerce Traffic Manager

When I was 20 I left a job with the freight department of the Chicago and Alton railroad's Chicago office and with a friend came to Galveston and went to work for the Santa Fe. Before I left Chicago I got several promotions in the office, going from the local freight clerk to the demurrage department, and was handling grain shipments when I left to come south. During my stay in the south, I did a good deal of moving about, working in Oklahoma as well as Texas. Then a spell of sickness sent me to the hospital, and recovering I went back north. That was 25 years ago.

HEALTH OFFICER HERE TUESDAY

Milk, Water and Food Supplies to Be Examined

A representative of the Texas state department of health will arrive in Port Arthur Tuesday to confer with local health authorities on the typhoid situation here, according to a telegram received today by Dr. Pat Reed, city health officer, from Austin.

Decision to ask a representative of the state health department to make an investigation of the Port Arthur situation was taken by the city board of health at a meeting held last week, when Dr. Reed reported that during the past three months 14 cases of typhoid had been reported.

Efforts to locate the source of infection, including drastic examinations of the milk, water and food supplies, have been unavailing. Dr. Reed said the scattered locations of the cases of typhoid reported also make the problem of definitely tracing the source of infection difficult, he said. The number of cases of the fever in the city recently are not in any way indicative of an epidemic here, but are above normal, according to the city health officer.

K. C. S. RATES ON GRAIN ATTACKED

Suits Totalling $2,000,000 Filed Against 11 Lines

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—Suits totaling $2,000,000 were filed against eleven railroads today by representatives of 1,000 western shippers demanding rebate on alleged overcharges in freight rates.

The court action was begun by H. A. Jeschke, chairman of the transportation committee of the Kansas City board of trade, representing the shippers. The suits, filed simultaneously in federal courts in Kansas City, Chicago, St. Louis, Toledo and St. Joseph, are based on the interstate commerce commission's decision that rates being charged for carrying grain in this territory are unreasonable and exceed by one half the increases granted August 20, 1920.

Railroads named in the suits include Union Pacific, Kansas City Southern, Chicago Great Western, Burlington, Milwaukee Great Western, Missouri Pacific, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Santa Fe and St. Joseph and Grand Island.

NIGHT SESSION IN OUSTER CASE

Senators Anxious to Finish Walton Case, They Say

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19.—A night session of the senate court of impeachment, if the vote on ouster of Governor J. C. Walton is not reached before five p. m., was proposed this afternoon.

Senators who listened throughout today's rather wearisome session, devoted to completing charges against the governor, were anxious to get through.

Governor Walton did not come to the capitol this morning.

Seemingly rather broken in spirit and resigned to the inevitable ouster, he awaited the verdict at his house, denying himself to visitors.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The supreme court today held that portion of the California alien land law which prohibits an indelible alien from acquiring stock in a corporation owning land was unconstitutional. DE SILVA CASE AGAIN PUT OFF

Sanity Hearing Held Up Awaiting Witnesses

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 19.—Motion by defense attorneys that the hearing of Newt DeSilva be changed to Houston, on the grounds that a fair and impartial trial could not be obtained in Beaumont was overruled. Work of expediting a jury to try DeSilva on insanity was begun at 3 o'clock.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 19.—The Newt DeSilva sanity hearing, scheduled for 10 o'clock Monday was postponed until the afternoon by Judge E. A. McDowell in order to give lawyers for the defense time to call witnesses not present Monday morning.

DeSilva's usual, deliberate, appearance was slightly altered when he appeared in court this morning. He evidently had not shaved for a week. He wore a white sport shirt, open at the neck, a faded gray sweater, old clothes and shoes.

During the entire preliminary proceeding, he sat with his head bowed over, smoking one cigarette after another, paying little attention to the court room crowd, frankly curious.

Attorneys for DeSilva at 2:45 this afternoon were reported to be considering asking a change of venue, claiming it is reliably reported, that because of the wide notoriety surrounding the case it is impossible for him to secure a fair and unprejudiced trial.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—Turkey prices have taken a sudden slump in several Texas markets, according to reports here today.

At Luling, where there are more turkeys at present than at any time in the history of that section, prices have slumped from 20 to 15 cents a pound and under.

REJECT NOTE

Refuse to Close Crown Prince Incident

BREITEN, Nov. 19.—Germany will not surrender the former crown prince even if France takes military action.

Chancellor Stresemann said this that determination in a speech at a party of members of the Reichstag.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—After the Anglo-French entente appeared to have weathered a serious crisis by agreement in the ambassadors' conference early today on a proposed joint note to Germany, a new obstacle arose when the French cabinet refused to accept the terms of the note dealing with the demand for expulsion of the crown prince.

Crown Prince Rejected.

Announcement that the cabinet had rejected the terms of the proposed note dealing with the crown prince included the statement that it had accepted the text of the note, regarding the repositioning of allied troops of Germany's military preparations.

The cabinet insisted on "minor" reservations to this part of the note, the announcement said.

It was believed the chief objection in French minds to the part of the note dealing with the crown prince was that it had no teeth in it.

British Refuse to Threaten.

The British ambassador, the Marquis Curzon, in accordance with instructions from his government, refused to agree to a joint note in which any threat or specific military action was made. It was understood.

Abandonment of the cabinet's decision followed one that the cabinet unanimously agreed with the attitude maintained by Premier Poincare in the negotiations.

WITH the team considerably changed in personnel but the outlook possibly as brilliant, Coach "Toots" Forbes, rated one of the best basketball mentors in this section of the country and accepted as such in Port Arthur, is lining up his Good Gulf Basketball team, rapidly whipping the club into fighting trim at Franklin gym.

Reports from the training grounds show that the squad is rapidly coming around to the Forbes style of playing, and that the Gulf this season will place in the field a strong offensive club capable of hurling a steel-like defense when necessary.

The tribe of some 10 or 12 prospects are at practice semi-weekly in the gymnasium at Franklin school, have already begun to attract attention, with Atkins and Smith, from last year's club, back in training, and "Cotton" Hillier and "Hungry" Landon, also from the 1933-34 string, supporting them.

New possibilities include Clara King, a giant guard from Terrell Training school of Dallas, "Abe" Masters, 1922-23 captain of Purdue University, Wiggins of T. C. U., Tom Wilhelm from the University of Illinois, Taylor from Jefferson College, "Bull" Merchant, a former Alvin high school star, and Dyer and Mabry, two more prospects. All these additions to the Gulf squad are showing up in good form, and are fighting hard for a berth on the 1934-35 club.

Games with Baylor, Elmo, Houston, Triangles and teams of like strength are likely to appear here as opponents of the Good Gulf when the season opens for them around the Christmas holidays, and Manager J. M. Pickett, who so ably conducted the business end of the club last season, will be on the job again this year pushing the profit.

At the close of the season, it is likely the Gulf will meet the pick of Port Arthur teams for the City championship cup offered by the News-Sporting department last year, and which is already in the possession of the Gulfies for the first year. Winner of the cup three in succession becomes permanent possessor of the trophy under the pact, and with several excellent teams looming on the horizon this year, it is likely the Gulf will find lots of opposition at home.

ZEV WILL MEET ANY RACE PONY

Owner, Says World Not Barred For Clash

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—Zev, American champion 3-year-old and the world's greatest money winner, will meet any thoroughbred in the world that is offered as a challenger to his title, Sam Hildreth, his trainer, said before leaving here for the east.

Hildreth said he would put his thoroughbred star in training for the match race with My Own, Admiral Grayson's star, as soon as he was given a little rest on his return to Baltimore.

Zev's entry in the proposed international race depends upon the result of the match race with My Own, and upon the wishes of the men promoting the race, according to Hildreth.

Hildreth said also that it had been planned to send Zev to Europe next spring and that he probably would be entered in one or more of the British turf classics.

Horsemen here gave all of the credit for Zev's victory over In Memoriam to the horsemanship of Earle Sande, the star jockey.

PURPLE MEETS HEIGHTS TEAM

Championship of District at Stake Today

Two of the fastest teams in the district will clash this afternoon at Magnolia Park, in Beaumont, when the Purple of that city meets the Bulldogs from Houston Heights for championship honors. On paper, Beaumont is the best team, and ought to win by not less than one touchdown. On the field, however, it may be a different tale, and the Heights contingent, which is always getting the breaks, might swamp Beaumont with lucky turns.

Both teams have gone through the season so far undefeated, and the game will probably attract the entire student body from Port Arthur together with numerous other grid fans.

THE QUESTION

Player of a team "A" tows a forward pass, which is received by an eligible player. Said eligible player catches the pass while running at full speed but fails to get a good hold on the ball. After taking several steps the ball eludes the player's grasp, and because of the player's momentum it is hurled a considerable distance into the air ahead of him. The ball, while in the air, strikes the back of an opposing player. The ball bounces from the back of this player into the hands of the original receiver of the pass, who had not yet checked his speed after fumbling the ball. Catching the ball for the second time, he continued on his way, crossing the opposition's goal line.

IS SUCH A PLAY LEGAL?

THE ANSWER

Such a play is positively legal. A similar play came up several years ago in a game between Ohio State and Illinois, resulting in a touchdown for Illinois and best Ohio State out of a "Big Ten" title. The original player who received the pass, then fumbled, was eligible to again recover the ball before it touched the ground.

THE QUESTION

On an exchange of punts, player on "A" team receives a punt and starts down the field with the ball. Tackled near the side line, he fumbles the ball. A player on the opposing team in an effort to recover the fumble gets the ball squarely into his hands. Instead of retaining it he also fumbles the ball, juggling it several times. The ball finally gets away from the player, and the momentum given it because he had juggled the ball while running at full speed, causes it to pass over a side line fence, out of play. What is the proper ruling on such a happening?

THE ANSWER

This play is not at all unusual. It happens scores of times during the football season. The rules state that a ball so fumbled and then passes over a side line fence shall be considered the property of the side whose player last touched it in the field of play. The ball shall go to each team at the point where the ball crossed the side line. This rule of course does not apply to a fumbled forward pass.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"Yes, sir, I've got it all fixed up!" Paddy-foot whispered excitedly.

Mister Bob-Cat liked the dark. His eyes worked better. But he also liked the sun. It felt so good and warm on his back.

So, as he couldn't have both at once, he took turns hunting and sunning himself, and just now he was having his sun-bath on a narrow ledge of rock in a woolly wild place down in Dixie Land.

For Dixie Land, my dears, is not all cotton fields and tobacco fields and orange groves. It has some very wild places. And it was in one of the wildest places that Mister Bob-Cat was stretched out in the sun.

That's where the Twins found him. Their busy little shoes had guided them there because the Fairy Queen would be sure to ask about her mountain folk.

Mister Bob-Cat was as sound asleep as Tip Van Winkle, so the Twins did not bother to wake him up. They were about to turn away when they heard voices whispering. Tip-toeing very softly toward the spot where the voice came from, they beheld a strange sight.

There was Paddy-foot Rabbit and Drummer Partridge and Hooley Owl all three with their noses together like foreign ambassadors.

"Yes, sir, I've got it all fixed up!" Paddy-foot whispered excitedly, wiggling his long ears. "I just been to see Mister Otter and he promised. He says he'll do everything we asked him to and he'll be there at exactly three minutes past sunset. Now come along you two birds and show you the way."

You may be sure that by this time the Twins were bursting with a costly.

But they stayed round, and sunset, Mister Bob-Cat woke up, shook himself and stretched.

"Supper-time!" he remarked with a yawn. "I'll climb a tree, so if I can find an owl or a nice partridge. Goodness! There's Paddy-foot Rabbit right over there now, might get him."

And away he leaped.

But Paddy-foot ran right under a gum-tree and disappeared.

"Shucks!" said Mister Bob-Cat. Suddenly right overhead a voice went "Hoot! Hoot!"

"Well, I declare!" grumbled Mister Bob-Cat, looking up. "That's certainly lucky." And he dug his claws in that tree and shinnied in two shakes.

But Hooley Owl lifted his wings and flew away like a shadow.

"Shucks!" said Mister Bob-Cat again. That was stupid of me to let two good dinners!"

That very second Drummer Partridge began to drum, and Mister Bob-Cat stopped making remarks at himself, and began to lick his whiskers again. "I'll have a sign set," he said and paws-footed in the direction the new found cat from.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

CHAPTER 17
Little Nieces of Mystery

The small French river Arise ages ago cut out a tunnel which made what is now called the Cave of Aul. On one bank of the stream (in the dark tunnel) have been found proofs that people lived there during the Stone Age.

Besides a few paintings on the walls and some carvings in p ground, hundreds of colored pebb were discovered at this spot.

The little stones are flat. Most of them have an oval shape, and are red marks. Often they have bords around the markings at the cent of dots or short lines. In other cas they are design, which may have meant to stand for something. W looks like the letter "E" appears certain stones. Does this mean anything special? Very likely. Did have anything to do with the letter of our alphabet? Probably not.

These marked pebbles still puzzle scientists. One suggestion is th the designs were connected with religion of the people who lived the cavern.

That is only a suggestion. T meaning will perhaps remain unsu for ever. Painted stones of al the same kind have been found South America.

Next—Better Boats.

Above are some of the painted pebb found in the Cave of Aul. You may know just why markings of th kind were made.

Hollywood Boast of New Slang Coinage

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Hollywood is fast vying with New York in the production of the nation's slang.

Formerly New York had pretty much of a corner on the market. But since the advent of the movies Hollywood is becoming a real competitor.

Hollywood has great facilities for putting its stuff over. Much of the slang originates either on the motion picture lots or in the brain-child of some bright title writer.

Inasmuch as the latest Hollywood slang is right at the title writer's elbow, even if he didn't coin it, he quite frequently picks it up, puts it in a title and makes it known over the country because millions see it on the screen.

"Wise-cracker" was the latest Hollywood contribution to the national slang. "Wise cracks" was a term taken from the movie lots, referring to the ability of title writers or publicity hounds to put over their gags in new language. And the statement "He's another of those Hollywood wise-crackers" became a term of great scorn in Los Angeles.

And now a man who tries to make wise cracks, but fails to get them over, is being wittily referred to as a "wyster cracker."

A half dozen others, including "old can," are credited to Hollywood.

TRUCK COLLIDE

Truck Collide, Truck, Nov. 18.—A truck was narrowly averted from colliding with a Southern Pacific freight engine on the coast and applied the emergency brake and the engine on the main line barely stopped in time to avoid the front end of the car. It was said the damage, however, would not exceed more than $10.

BEATS NON-JURY CASES
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 19.—A number of non-jury civil cases were set Monday morning by Judge George C. O'Brien in 38th district court. Judge O'Brien did not call the docket in to do an ordinary circuit court case but asked that any lawyer who had a case they wanted tried for any particular reason to let him know and that he would "work day and night" until the docket was cleared up. The court convened after a week's recess during which time Judge O'Brien attended to a number of court matters other than trying cases that demanded his attention.

ADJUDGE NEGRESS INSANE.
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 19.—A jury in county court Monday morning adjudged a negro woman insane and she will be sent to a state institution now within a short time. Two white men, residents of Jefferson county were due to be examined but both trials were continued.

GRAND JURY RECOUVENES
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 19.—The 58th district court grand jury reconvened Monday morning after a recess of five days. Only a few witnesses are being called and it is believed that only a few liquor cases are now being investigated. The grand jury will probably finish all their work and bring in their final report the day before Thanksgiving. The session legally ends December 1.

CROOK SWAMPS BEAUMONT
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 19.—In spite of the fact that a "short change" artist received wide publicity and business houses were warned to be on the lookout for him, he succeeded in pulling another trick Sunday night at the Chargois cafe here which netted him an additional $10.

Through a clever manipulation of money the man "slicked" the cashier out of $10 and then before the shortage was missed, left the cafe. Two detectives have been put on the case and an accurate description of the man has been furnished police.

CARNIVAL MUST OBTAIN PERMIT

No Gaming, Says Logan When Merchants Intervene

Unless a carnival erected at the grounds on Lake Shore Drive this morning obtains a license from the city and a permit from the Port Arthur censor board, it will not be allowed to operate.

This was the assertion of Mayor Pink Logan this morning, following a conference with the city's board of censors, and in the outcome of a communication addressed the censor board from the Retail Merchants' Association, requesting the city to prohibit alleged gaming devices.

The letter to the censor board from the Retail Merchants' Association follows in substance:

Letter to Censor Board.
"At a meeting of our board of directors held a few days ago, it was brought out that at the last carnival, held on Lake Shore Drive, month or so ago, gambling was allowed. In view of the fact that there is a law prohibiting gambling, we trust that you gentlemen, serving as a board of censors for the city of Port Arthur, will find it agreeable to see to it that no gambling is allowed at the carnival coming here this month, or at any other carnival that may come here in the future.

The communication was addressed to Rev. C. W. Culp, Perry Pifer, C. T. Baker, G. H. Sims and Henry Matre, who constitute the board.

An investigation by city officials following receipt of the letter, the mayor said disclosed that the carnival had not obtained permission either from the city or the censor board to show here, and it was his statement that both must be obtained at once.

Branches of the service open in Panama are the infantry, field artillery, coast artillery and engineers, the recruiting sergeant said.

BENEFIT BRIDGE BY CIVIC CLUB

Large Attendance at Wednesday Function Forecast

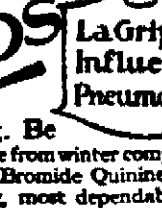

Tickets for the Civic Club's benefit bridge party Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Piping Hot Tea Room are being sold rapidly and indications point to an unusually large attendance of guests, Mrs. J. B. Saint, president of the Civic Club, said this morning.

Tickets for the bridge party may be obtained from any of the following members of the Civic Club: Mrs. W. P. McFarland, Mrs. R. E. Lattimer, Mrs. A. N. Peckham, Mrs. Frank Imhoff, Mrs. H. K. Goodwin, Mrs. T. W. Parrish, Mrs. H. W. McCord, Mrs. Henry Lohmann, Mrs. Dick Schultz, Mrs. K. A. Young, Mrs. John Vaughn, Mrs. M. F. Hildebrand, Mrs. W. W. Glass, Mrs. C. T. Baker, Mrs. M. E. Crawford or Mrs. Saint.

Many persons are purchasing tickets for the party just to assist in the benefit fund, Mrs. Saint said. They have already signified their intentions of not attending. Others are helping us in that same way but have not designated whether they intend to attend the party or not, so that we do not know how many guests to plan for. It will greatly facilitate matters if those buying tickets for the benefit party will telephone me at 623 and state whether they are planning to attend so that our committees will be able to arrange the number of tables required.

No special tables will be reserved for any group or club, according to club officials.

Pl. Arthur to Intervene in Abilene Rate Case

Port Arthur has been granted permission to intervene in the case of the Galveston Commercial Association versus the Abilene & Southern railway company et al. according to word received today by Chamber of Commerce Traffic Manager Frank Potts from the Interstate Commerce commission.

The hearing will be held at Hotel Galvez, in Galveston December 17 at 10 o'clock.

The case grows up from charges brought by the Galveston Commercial Association alleging that rates over the Abilene & Southern are discriminatory to Galveston. Because of the relationship of rates to this port and the port of Galveston, Potts has filed complaint urging that whatever changes are made for Galveston be made to affect Port Arthur also.

The average span of life has lengthened more than four years since 1910.

Don't Be a Wallflower—Brush Up On Your Dancing

By ARTHUR MURRAY

Director, National Institute of Social Dancing

To talk or not to talk—there's the rub in dancing circles.

The answer is, of course, "Yes" and "No."

Sometimes, a moment of graceful and courteous conversation in the dance room is the wedge to enlarged social or business opportunity.

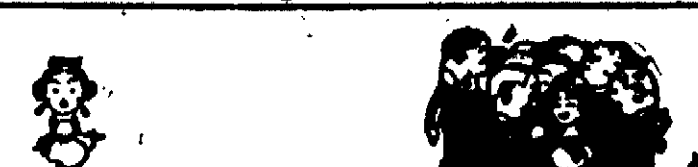

The question at a dance, usually, is not so much what they say as when to say it.

When dancing with a young lady, plenty of lively conversation is very acceptable as a rule. The quiet girl is seldom popular at dances of young people, because the young boy does not feel at ease with her.

Don't "Highbrow"

Never inflict "highbrow" conversation on your partner. It is indeed a stupid girl who poses as a superior person.

The wise girl is clever enough to make the man feel important by subordinating her own opinions and her own knowledge of the world. It takes a very clever girl to appear light-headed. If you often wonder why a man likes an apparently frivolous girl, just remember that in her company he feels relaxed mentally, and therefore, enjoys the occasion.

"Don't make the man feel he must entertain you, the quiet girl is seldom popular at dances."

Another "Don't":

Don't make the man feel that he must entertain you. That's the time he becomes tongue-tied. Personally, I can talk a person to death, but when I am at a dinner and know that I am expected to entertain the girl to my right, my scant knowledge of words deserts me. I become conscious only of the fact that I am self-conscious, stupid and ignorant. The joke I have told a hundred times refused to come to my mind.

Usually, the question of whether or not to talk, is one for the tactful decision of the girl. In a dance in which the steps are simple, if light conversation apparently adds to the enjoyment of the couple, conversation is permissible. If talking tends to confuse the steps and make for self-consciousness and awkwardness on the part of one's partner, silence is golden.

"Correct Position" is discussed in Mr. Murray's next article.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

POSTHUMOUS CHARITIES ARE THE VERY ESSENCE OF SELFISHNESS, WHEN BEQUEATHED BY THOSE WHO, WHEN ALIVE, WOULD PART WITH NOTHING.—COLTON.

YOUR TIME—HOW DO YOU SPEND IT

Doctors notice a steady increase in the number of men who break down between 40 and 50, when they should be in their prime. Breakdown comes three ways—physically, mentally or in the ability to forge ahead and reap the harvest of past effort.

Why do so many men break down prematurely? The answer is partly that civilization is constantly becoming more complex with each year bringing more and more demands on the individual's spare time.

Each year it becomes harder for a man to earn a good living for himself and family. He goes through his work-day at high nervous tension, speeded up, giving his last ounce of strength. This is particularly true of men who work with their brains.

Father goes home at night, fagged out. What he needs, to keep him fit and help nature recuperate his exhausted cells, is complete relaxation with plenty of fresh air and little noise.

But so-called "social duties" crowd in. Father finds he is expected to dress up and go calling on friends. Or maybe it's to a movie. Or to lodge. Or to a meeting of some committee on which he is serving as Fifth Assistant Deputy Peanut Inspector. And so on.

Before he realizes, it's around midnight when he yawns into bed, exhausted, with an hour or two less for sleep than he should have. A man can stand this for a while. But in a matter of years even a strong constitution begins cracking under the strain.

Too many social duties. Too much gadding about. Too little leisure time devoted to relaxation and rest. The candle has been kept burning at both ends. Father weakens, falters, fags out prematurely.

UNCLE SAM ON WHEELS

Uncle Sam is a rapid traveller. Long ago his people abandoned the oxcart system of transportation. Economists say the year 1923 will establish a new high record in the number of automobiles manufactured in this country. An output of approximately four million cars and trucks is expected to be reported when complete returns are available on the first of the new year.

Economists also say despite this record breaking production the industry as a whole is looking forward to continued prosperity in 1924. Do you know that the people of the United States and Canada combined are the owners of 76 per cent of the automobiles in the world? On the heels of this announcement comes the news that the Standard Oil of America has decided to make an invasion of the Rumanian petroleum fields and give battle to the nationals of all other countries.

Some day Brother Jonathan will need the petrol. This when the American fields are exhausted. Then John D. Rockefeller may be able to supply the demand with foreign stuff.

There is a great battle for petroleum everywhere under the shining sun and Deacon Rockefeller and his able lieutenants are going to be in at the death. Combined they have five times the capital that Henry Ford controls and money makes the tanker go.

A prohibition agent in Georgia has been attending college football games and notices that hip-pocket flasks are quite common among the spectators.

The prohibition agent. Denim by name, does that there seems to be his drinking among the students, they among the alumni and others of the generation marching toward the discord. This is significant for the success or failure of compulsory prohibition depends on whether or not prohibition can prevent the young generation from getting the "hip" idea.

YOUR HEALTH

INFLAMED EYES

Inflamed eyes result frequently from what may be called sympathetic cases. This is no different disease in themselves, but from disturbances in the digestive system, bladder troubles, nervous weakness, and conditions of the stomach which in time become chronic through lack of proper treatment at the source.

Temporary red and inflamed eyes, with watery, hot conditions, may result from severe colds or catarrhal conditions, which may be treated by the use of a small particle of foreign matter in the eye.

Never resort to rubbing as a means of removal. It will aggravate rather than remove the trouble.

If this foreign particle should happen to be a steel filing or other metallic substance, the danger is often greatly increased. Careful attention and immediate treatment are absolutely necessary. Rubbing will only cause the metal particle to become more embedded in the wall of the eye.

The body has a tendency to absorb the foreign body by severe rubbing and cause loss of sight.

Best results are obtained when the foreign body is removed by closing the eye and rubbing the finger tip after thoroughly cleansing it, in a circular motion, over the eye.

In some instances the application of cold water, even with the use of a cold compress, will relieve the inflammation and only augment rather than cure the inflamed eyes.

The best result is to keep the eye washed with "eye drops." These usually contain powerful drugs, such as cocaine and atropin and only augment rather than cure the inflamed eyes.

Ellnor Goodrich, Mahel Lawrence, Polly Vane, Isabel Ruyter, Ellen de Lacey, Louise Prevost. She had been so intimate with all of them, not only in the school room but when they were all in Society together. Now only her somewhat cynical sense of anticipation mitigated utter boredom at the thought of meeting them again. Of the other six she had still vaguer memories, although she recalled having heard that the beauty of her own last season, Lily Armstrong, had married one of the Tracys. She also was to be at the luncheon.

What on earth was she to talk to them about at the table? She could hardly tell them the story they expected before the servants. That would be for the later hour in the drawing room—or would it be in that absurd old room of Jane's upstairs?

She recalled Ellnor Tracy (Goodrich) and her enthusiastic admiration, which she had accepted as a matter-of-course, and given little beyond amiable tolerance in return. As she had told Ellnor, she was not a woman's woman. She hoped Nelly had outgrown "goth." For some ten years after her marriage she had met her from time to time abroad, but she had not seen her for so long that she doubted if she would recognize her if they passed on the street. The only one of her old friends for whom she retained either interest or affection was Jane Ogleshorpe, who, ten years older than herself, with a commanding personality unfolding rapidly at the dawn of their intimacy

Christmas Gifts

PARTY BAG

Here is a party bag that's French through and through.

To make it, take a foundation of crinoline and arrange on it an assortment of ribbon flowers in the manner sketched, using a row of green leaves or a lace ruffle for the outside. Then cut a bag just the size of the bouquet in a satin to harmonize with the flowers, and join it to the under-skirt. If you want to be very generous, put in a fancy handkerchief, a powder puff and a rouge stick, and you have a complete and charming gift.

RECKLESS MOTORISTS FINED $500 APEICE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Four motorists charged with reckless driving were fined $500 each in justice court here. Twelve other persons were assessed $250 each for traffic violations.

AD FOR CIRCUS WORKERS BRINGS 60,000 GERMANS

HAMBURG, Nov. 19.—Hans Saran, a circus owner, who is about to start for South America with his show, advertised in the German newspapers for 300 acrobats, workmen and employees of various sorts. He received applications from 60,000 men of all classes.

Every type from a former general of cavalry to day laborer was in the list. Many of the men offered to pay for a position which would earn them transportation to South America. Some offered the slender amount of money at their disposal, while others offered potatoes, grain and other products.

Dispar over present economic conditions in Germany, desire for a free life, disagreement over blasted careers and love of adventure were the motives ascribed by most of the applicants.

MUMMIES GLUT EUROPE MARKET

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The high cost of living, low rate of exchange, the unemployment situation and the reparations problem have nothing whatever to do with mummies.

Private owners of all sorts of mummies are making frantic efforts to get rid of them. All sorts of vehicles and conveyances are delivering mummy pharaohs and other ancient potentates to museums everywhere in a mad scramble of the owners to avoid incurring the wrath of long-legged King Tutankhamen and his alleged curse on those who disturb the rest of the "old boys" in the Valley of Kings.

Mothers—AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Substitute Kindergarten

One Mother Says:

I live where my little girl does not have the benefit of a kindergarten, but I am substituting for it in many ways. Recently I bought her some modeling clay. Then her father sawed off a large flat board which could be placed on the floor in the kitchen while I am working. She has a smaller board she can hold in her lap to work with if she wishes, or she may work flat on the big board. I give suggestions as to things to make talking to her about them as I work. She has an old cloth apron which keeps her from setting too besmeared, and the board keeps the clay all in one place. (Copyright, 1932, Associated Editors)

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON

My God, Syd, it's true! I want to see that picture of Betty's that was sent me and spread the whole story there. There is no use of my crying "Peccavi," for everyone in Albany today knows that I have sinned, at least everyone but Leslie.

Naturally I don't wish Leslie any bad luck but I was rather relieved last week when she was too ill to see the picture, but someone is sure to tell her about it if they haven't yet. Then it will be all off with our truly. Every one of the boys have come around and behind their hands told me about the picture, until I plucked up courage and went to it myself.

The whole story is told, Syd, and the last fadeout shows the mother and father of the adopted child leaning over the sleeping babe while a weeping woman kneels beside an empty crib. It certainly is a mess.

She is piling it on, Syd. In the picture, if you have not seen it I must tell you, the girl hands back all the letters but one and I am willing to bet my life that it is just exactly what Perier did. She has not only got a business head but she is hard as nails. Otherwise she never would have told this story on the screen.

However, she has done one thing, Syd, which she may regret. Now that I know that Leslie is mine I'll keep it until hell freezes over. You have said you think she wants it back. She will never get it as long as she lives, it can keep it, and I don't think Leslie would give it up either, even if she knew.

I wish, Syd, that you would write to Perier and ask her if the picture is her story. You can do this and she probably will tell you. Sometimes I think that she has allowed this author to write this story so that Leslie, seeing it, will give up the baby. But I can tell her one thing. She doesn't know Leslie as well as I do.

Although I am not going to tell my wife until I have to, I am sure just as sure as I am sure that I am writing this to you, that Leslie will keep that baby under any circumstances. She might make any difference in her feelings toward the child. Leslie has a great sense of justice and she will know that the boy is not to blame.

Funny old world, isn't it, Syd? Who would have thought that Paula Perier would become a great movie picture actress? And yet I guess she always had it in her. God knows she had temperament enough as well as temper, and she was clever always and very beautiful.

I was very fond of her, Syd, and

NEW SHOW AT THE STRAND
 "Twin Beds" opening at the Strand yesterday was one of the greatest laughing successes that has been here this year. Ray Parsons produced the bill and played the part of "Henry Dean," the "Saturday Night" man who got in the wrong flat. He was screamingly funny from the time of his entrance to the drop of the curtain.

Paul Martin, who for the first time since his return to Port Arthur, has really had a chance to give a satisfactory performance, as the husband, who coming home, discovers another man in his wife's bedroom. Miss Morton as the wife of Henry Hawkins whose flat is invaded, and Miss Parsons, as her mother, were exceptionally good.

at all times. The spectators were well received and the entire show seemed to please the large audience who saw it yesterday.

BERGMAN'S SWISS VILLA
 One of the mechanical wonders of the world, Bergman's Swiss Villa, a working model of a villa, that took this General, Switzerland watchmaker, seventeen years to build, is to be seen at the Shrine Show during the big carnival week, on the Marshall grounds on Lake Shore drive all this week.

The Kempf Brothers, with the Morris and Castle Shows, who are now owners of the unique and interesting exhibit acquired this villa, after some had been exhibited at all the World fairs and expositions in this and foreign countries for over fifty years. P. T. Barnum brought this Swiss Villa to this country fifty-two years ago, and had it under his personal management for a score of years, and once showed it in connection with the Barnum and Bailey Circus, as a side show.

This mechanical wonder has over 22,000 working parts and every bit of it is carved out of solid wood. It formerly was operated by clock works and water power, but in the past few years has been operated by a small motor in connection with clock works. The Bergman Swiss Villa is now exhibited in connection with the famous Kempf Model City, built by Irving and Bruce Kempf of Capeau, Mich., who are personally in charge of this attraction while in the city, and will give interesting lectures about it and how it was made while on the Shrine showgrounds all this week.

BOOZE PEDDLERS GO TO 'SCHOOL'

500 Engaged in 'Bacchus U.' Study For Degree

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—(Cana bridge may have its Harvard. New Haven its Yale—but Los Angeles has a new one—the "University of Bacchus," inspired by the ancient god of wine, that ribald old god who has stimulated man for ages.

Five hundred students are reported by federal prohibition agents to be enrolled in this institution, which educates bootleggers. The college, they say, has professors, a regular curriculum which leads to a degree—probably a "bachelor of bootlegging."

Arrest of six of the leading peddlers for moonshining is imminent and is expected to do disrupt the scholastic momentum that functioning will be impossible.

Dry Agent Tolley said he began to suspect something was wrong when agents reported that samples of liquor seized about Los Angeles showed analysis much less percentage of poisonous ingredients, due to evaporation and incomplete distillation, than for merely.

"Why this sudden purity," he inquired and started out to find out what it was all about.

The reported discovery of the "University of Bacchus" has solved the question, and the expected arrest of the six moonshiners, all of whom were at one time or another connected with legitimate distilleries, will end the strange school, authorities believe.

The pupils, said investigating officers, are made up of young men out of work, discouraged over financial difficulties, who are attracted by the glowing tales of the immense profit in bootlegging. Agents for the institution of "learning" take the wayward lads in hand and point rosy pictures of the marvelous benefits of a college education along this line.

Upon payment of a small sum the student is enrolled in a course, handled by an expert. Then, when he starts out in business for himself, another fee must be paid. If the graduate should be recalcitrant and refuse to pay, a quiet tip to the government of friends would finish him.

The faculty is first-class enough to teach that a good product pays in the long run. Cleanliness is a primary principle with them. The pupils are taken to model plants, where the scientific principles underlying distillation are explained and simple "batches" turned out with different materials. The class is told exactly what process and combinations of much and metals produces the "pot" that causes blindness or even death. Along with this instruction goes a short study of metals.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

What could be better than corn meal muffins on a nippy November morning? The very sight of them delights the eye and tickles the palate.

Corn meal is a heat producing food especially suitable for cold weather. Hot breads and muffins made with corn meal are more easily digested than other hot breads. And corn meal itself is cheap.

Did you ever taste "home made" corn meal? After the corn is husked the ears are put in the oven to parch and very slightly brown. One must keep an eye on them, for after the corn is heated through it colors very quickly and burnt corn may be the result.

If you don't know this little trick with corn, try it. The meal is delicious and has a nutty, different goodness of flavor impossible to describe.

Corn Meal Muffins
One-half cup corn meal, 1-1/2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons sugar.
Cream butter and sugar. Add egg well beaten. Mix dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Beat until perfectly smooth. Bake in buttered muffin pans for 25 minutes in a hot oven.

Spider Corn Bread
Three-fourths cup corn meal, 1-2 cup flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1-2 cup sour milk, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1 cup sweet milk, 2 tablespoons butter.
Mix meal, flour, sugar and salt. Add egg well beaten and sour milk.

Corn Dodgers
Two cups corn meal, 2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 tablespoon lard, boiling water.
Scald meal with boiling water, using enough water to make a dough that will drop from the spoon. The dough should flatten on the bottom but remain high in the center. Add salt, sugar and lard and beat well. Drop from spoon and bake.

Johnny Cake
One-half cup corn meal, 1-4 cup flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2-3 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 cup sweet milk.
Mix dry ingredients. Beat egg well and add milk. Continue beating until well mixed. Add to dry mixture and beat well. This makes a thin batter. Pour into a shallow, well-greased pan and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

QUAKE BRINGS QUEER ILLNESS

Jap Physician Alarmed at Dread Sequel

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Strange diseases among the people are feared by the physicians of Tokyo, an sequel of the great earthquake and fire, according to advices reaching the American Red Cross here.

Dr. Gato, prominent relief worker said that the Japanese doctors have been puzzled to account for new and unusual physical conditions among many of the people.

"While there are no signs of contagion among the refugees, no typhus and not much typhoid," said Dr. Gato, "I notice, particularly in the face of the women, an unwonted paleness. They have not the color they had before the earthquake. We do not know what may lie before us."

The relief problem in Japan is still a big one, with winter coming on. There is now plenty of food, so for relief supplies either have arrived or are en route, and the Japanese rice crop will be above normal. For this reason, further American food shipments will not be made. But the need is still tremendous for clothing and shelter against the cold.

There are no beggars in Tokyo, in spite of destitution of some. A member of a princely house in a letter received at Red Cross headquarters said that the people have taken new heart and hope, due largely to American and other foreign aid which came so promptly, and that the Japanese go
